New Online Masters Taxation - University of Denver

Posted by VickyPhillips - 2011/04/20 13:31

New Online Masters Taxation
University of Denver

The University of Denver will begin offering their residential Masters of Taxation and LLM Taxation to online students beginning Winter Quarter 2011.

Online students enroll in the same classes as the residential graduate students in Denver; use the same course materials; complete the same homework work at the same time; Learn by watching video of the live classroom presentations. Online students take exams under the watchful eye of a proctor in your local neighborhood.

The first classes will be Corporate Taxation I and Property Transactions. Two new classes will be offered online each quarter, with most required classes made available first, followed by electives. Online students can start part-time in any quarter.

Tuition costs for GTP Online Degree option is the same as for onsite students.

Know of a new online degree program or one missing from the GetEducated college directory?
Leave a TIP for us in the forum SUGGESTION BOX.

==========