Services for online teaching

Posted by wfournier - 2012/10/11 09:48

_____

What kind of services could you recommend to find online teaching jobs? What is the most important when you want to choose your e-learning service?

==========

Re:Services for online teaching

Posted by vicky - 2012/10/11 10:31

_____

Hi W,

GetEducated has a great online teaching jobs board where you can find teaching work online and one where you can advertise your ability to freelance teach online. Both are free and updated weekly or more frequently.

I a not sure what you mean by choosing an elearning service.
Can you elaborate?

Vicky

wfournier wrote:
What kind of services could you recommend to find online teaching jobs? What is the most important when you want to choose your e-learning service?

==========

Re:Services for online teaching

Posted by Danielle - 2012/10/16 15:41

_____

HigherEd Jobs always has a good listing of online/remote positions:
http://www.higheredjobs.com/search/remote.cfm

Also check out E-Learning Jobs, it's a blog of job postings that gets updated pretty frequently:
http://doconnor.edublogs.org/

Another tactic is to simply look on online university's websites themselves. Big ones like U of Phoenix or Devry University are almost always hiring.

http://www.phoenix.edu/about_us/employment.html
http://online.argosy.edu/about/employment.aspx
http://www.devryinc.com/careers.jsp

Good luck with your search!

==========