Impressions about George Fox University?

Posted by dhandlos - 2011/12/18 23:30

Hello everyone,

I stumbled across a mention about George Fox University when I was researching something completely different. While I'll admit that I haven't heard of this school before last week, but it looks like a regionally accredited private school (founded in 1885), that now includes some online offerings, including a Doctor of Business Administration (DBA).

Anyone have an impression of the reputation of the school?

==========

Re:Impressions about George Fox University?

Posted by dhandlos - 2011/12/19 10:47

FYI, their listing of online programs is available here:
http://www.georgefox.edu/academics/online-programs.html

From the looks of it, two on-site sessions per year are required for both their masters & doctoral programs.

==========