Online Student Research Study -- Volunteers Needed!

Posted by Rachel - 2013/04/05 13:12

Are you earning a bachelor's degree online? If so, here's your chance to talk about your online learning experience.

A graduate researcher from Capella University is doing a study on racism in an online learning environment. Head over to http://www.faceraceonline.com to document your experience!

Also, another online student is looking for participants to answer just a few questions about online learning. Check it out here:
http://www.geteducated.com/forums/6-online-bachelor-degree-programs/1170-distance-learning-survey-for-research-project

This is a great chance to help out other online students. Your appreciation will be greatly appreciated!

==========